CORRESPONDENCE.

A Word for the Poor.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

Educate this poor white trash and it "wants the earth." This from the Advertiser—a paper that is edited, owned and supported by a class who were lifted up and saved from that lowly position, solely through the hard-earned dollars of the generous-hearted Hawaiians (both male and female)—sounds harsh and discordant against the poor. Henry Clay, Abraham Lincoln, and many other great men of America, sprang from the ranks of the poor, but never "wanted the earth," nor ever robbed their friends, as did the pious rulers of this oligarchy.

"Who shall judge a man from manners? Who shall know him from his dress? Paupers may be fit for princes, Princes fit for something less. Crumpled shirt and dirty jacket. May beclothe the golden ore Of the humblest thoughts and feelings— What can satin vest do more?"

The Advertiser should have the above beautiful lines taught in the Sunday-schools of its peculiar creed, that innocent children may learn to avoid the warped peculiarities of their shoddy exemplars.

ANDANTE.

The Vanilla Bean.

This valuable product, which is highly prized for making extracts of perfumery and in cooking, has, within the past few months, become very scarce, and the price, in consequence, has advanced to three times what it formerly sold for. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in cookery, or for perfumery, and consequently the price must remain high for some years to come, as it takes three years for the plant to come into bearing, after which it continues in fruit for several years, improving from year to year, if well cared for.

A recent published statement says that the shortage of 1894 was due to a frost, which destroyed whole plantations. Then in 1895 a clash between the Indians, who occupy and cultivate the large plantations around Papantla, Mexico, the centre of this industry, and the Mexican authorities, who own the lands, resulted in the former being driven out, but not before they had succeeded in almost entirely destroying the vanilla plants as revenge. These two causes account for the shortage, as it requires three or four years before a plant will yield fruit. This shortage is much greater than is generally known. The present price of beans is $16 per pound, and it is not unlikely that it may advance to $18 or $20.

We have several times urged the planting of vanilla as a minor industry, as it will flourish here in almost any locality, where it has plenty of water, but is particularly adapted to the rainy sections of Hawaii. Although it requires three to four years for the vines to come into full bearing, it will then pay better than almost any other industry, that does not require much capital. Nor will it interfere with any other light work, and is particularly suited to females. In a future issue we will give some particulars regarding its cultivation and mode of curing the beans.—The Planter's Monthly.
